

Explore the Great Outback on Four Wheels

Travelling by campervan is a great way to explore the beautiful sceneries in Australia. Campervanning, as some call it, gives travelers the opportunity to experience the road trip of a lifetime without spending a fortune on accommodations and transport costs. A spirit of adventure is all it takes to explore Australia's never-ending horizons and beautiful skies aboard a campervan with some of your favorite people. A leisurely campervan trip in and around the Outback will take travelers to an eclectic mix of ocean and rainforest sceneries, wildlife, beautiful cities, and long, tranquil coastlines.

The Great Ocean Road is deemed by campervanners as one of the greatest driving spots in the world. It is a long drive from Adelaide to Melbourne, which can take about three days and two nights on average if you want to visit most of the attractions along the way. You can go hiking in the Grampians, visit a dormant volcano, soak up in the beautiful coastal sceneries in the Bay of Martyrs, and cap a day off watching the sunset at Twelve Apostles. You may also want to head up to Fraser Island, where you can immerse yourself in nature and go wildlife watching with your loved ones and friends and spend nights around a campfire. Travelers aboard 4WDs will surely love exploring the island's golden beaches. Cape York's Overland Telegraph is also a much loved destination for off-road travelers because of its wilderness peninsula composed of tropical forests and savannahs.

In Perth, there is a wide array of attractions within just a few hours drive. Perth's southern part is teeming with pristine beaches and world renowned wineries. Campervanners can explore all these beautiful destinations at a pace that is entirely their own. A camper hire Perth entitles travelers the flexibility of spending their leisurely time however they want, wherever they want. A campervan is also a cheaper way to explore the Outback because these cool campers give travelers the ability to sleep inside, which means huge savings on accommodation.

All campers are equipped with basic amenities such as a power source, at least one bed, cooking equipment, fresh water tank, shower, and toilet. These conveniences give travelers freedom from outrageous prices at tourist spots and give them the ability to live off-grid. Most campers are easy to handle, driving just like a car. However, since they're such heavy and large vehicles, travelers must always pay good attention when turning around corners or going under low rooves.
